M. E. Church Notes

Rev. S. A. Draize, Pastor

The children's day exercises last Sunday were indeed a delight.

The man or woman who fails to attend the services on children's day loses an opportunity for inspiration and uplift. There is always an interest aroused in listening to a program given by little tots. Every one represents a separate little individuality without imitation. Each represents the hope of parents. Each reveals to a certain degree the character of the homes in which they grow up.

Whatever errors occur only add to the interest of the occasion.

And the attitude men and women take toward children, indicates their character in a way that is beyond mistake. What would be worth while in our town or country except for the children and young life which is the hope of the future?

Pity the children whose parents are not interested enough to be present when they are endeavoring to develop the individuality and impress the world with a little sunshine and glad life. The parents who missed the program last Sunday must simply go on in life without this one bright, cheery event, and its inspiration.

Next Sunday morning we are to have Mr. and Mrs. Reeder, of Sioux City, in a splendid song number. In the evening they will conduct a praise service for half an hour. You will enjoy these voices and help somebody else if you come.

It's Only Doing My Duty, She Says

WANTS OTHERS TO KNOW HOW SHE REGAINED HER HEALTH AND HAPPINESS.

"Every time I tell anyone about Tanlac I feel that I am doing no more than my duty for I can never pay the debt of gratitude I owe this medicine for the good it has done me," said Mrs. George P. Dilges of 720 Chestnut street, Milwaukee, Wis., while telling of her remarkable recovery, recently.

"About a year ago I suffered a complete nervous breakdown," she continued, "and was in bed for three weeks. After I did get up I was so weak I could hardly get around. My nerves just seemed to have collapsed completely, even my children playing around me nearly drove me distracted and often I would break down and cry. The pains in my head were awful and I just hate to think of the agony they caused me. My digestion was so bad that the little I ate fermented and I could taste it for hours afterwards. I had sharp pains in my chest and around my heart and there was a continual burning in my stomach. My kidneys seemed to be badly disordered and I had a constant, cutting pain across the small of my back. My sleep was always restless and I would have terrible dreams through the night. I was weak and thin and finally got so I could hardly take care of my children, and I was so discouraged I almost lost heart.

"As long as I live I will always feel grateful to my husband who advised me to try Tanlac, for it is just simply wonderful what a change it has made in me. It was so time after I started taking it until my nerves began to get calm and now they are just as steady as can be and I like to have the children playing around me. I enjoy my meals because I can eat just whatever I please without the slightest trouble. I am free from headaches, my kidneys are in splendid condition and the pains have just about left my back entirely. Already I have gained ten pounds in weight and I am sleeping soundly every night. I am doing my housework now and it is a real pleasure because Tanlac has given me new strength and energy."

Tanlac is sold in Dakota City by Neiswanger Pharmacy, in South Sioux City by McBeath's Pharmacy, in Homer by Brassfield & Jensen.—Advertisement.

The Salem Ladies Aid will meet on Thursday, June 24th, at the home of Mrs. M. G. Leamer. The serving committee is Mrs. Leamer, Mrs. Wm. Berger, Mrs. Walter E. Miller, and Mrs. Lowe.

AMENDMENTS IN MARRIAGE

Divorce, Health and Education Are Also Affected

Twenty-one pieces of legislation in the interest of child welfare—affecting marriage, divorce, health, education and delinquency—are proposed in a bulletin just issued by Secretary C. E. Prevey, of the Nebraska children's code commission. More measures are to be recommended.

The commission proposes amendments to the marriage law of the state, requiring a five-day publication of notices before licenses are issued. Marriageable age for women would be 18 years, and no licenses would be issued to any under 21 without parental consent.

The same amendments would require a physical examination of men, prevent the marriage of the feeble minded and common law marriages would not be recognized.

An independent court of domestic relations would be established in larger counties under other proposals which would handle divorces and exclusive jurisdiction over minors under 18 years.

A state psychopathic clinic would be established to study mental defects, and all children before courts as delinquents would be given psychopathic tests.

The commission proposes to raise the minimum age for newsboys to 12 years, and establish a minimum wage for women and girls in industry. It is proposed that the school laws be amended requiring longer attendance in rural districts.

Other measures include that to make the county the unit for public welfare work and the strengthening of the state administration in control over welfare activity and the child in school.

Laws are proposed for better care of mothers and illegitimate children. Women committed to the women's reformatory at York would be detained indefinitely if found to be mentally defective. The compulsory education law would be extended to apply to deaf and blind children.
